WHO WE ARE

We are BUS; a student-run organization with the goal of promoting game development to students in British Columbia. We connect and work together with various student groups to provide better resources and opportunities for their members. One of our most prolific events is the BC Game Jam, where we invite students from all over the province to create together over a weekend.

ABOUT BC GAME JAM

BC Game Jam is an annual event that unites game developers within all the disciplines (story writers, designers, animators, programmers etc.) in developing a game within a limited time frame. What differentiates BC Game Jam from other similar events is the focus on inviting high-school and post-secondary students to participate. We provide these students with support and mentorship to create a true learning experience. Attendees are given the opportunity to showcase their games at the end of the event for some awesome prizes.

WE NEED YOUR HELP

We invite you to sponsor the BC Game Jam through monetary or in-kind support. Together we can give back to the community and empower the next generation of game developers. This would be an opportunity for your organization to connect and promote your brand to young developers eager to begin a career within the industry.
